INTERNATIONAL BBQ

On Saturday evening we had an international barbecue day. Beforehand all participants were told that they need to bring with themselves food or drink which describes their country. Thus we had a table with various types of food. All people showed their cultural things to each other and explained how it's made or how they should eat or drink. After eating and drinking participants decided to teach each other also national dances and songs. In our opinion it was really beautiful when Veronica from Ukraine started to sing international songs and everyone joined her.

Yesterday afternoon organisers told us that they had prepared a surprise for us. They divided us into three groups, tied our eyes and took us to some mysterious place. After they opened our eyes and told us to get to our place by ourselves. It was really enjoyable to be in a group where all participants are from various countries and each tell each other various stories about their countries and culture.
